NEW DENDROBIUMS

Listed below for the first time are a totally new and different group of Dendrobiums—these are all the Nobile type hybrids that bloom in late winter-early spring. These are gorgeous big plants. The larger ones are the biggest we've ever seen and will make a beautiful show in your home when its all white and cold outside this winter.

Dendrobium Nobile and its hybrids bloom with small clusters of flowers (2½"-3½" in diameter) all along the top half of each bulb and the flowers last two to four weeks—a very showy and striking pot plant.

Dendrobium Nobile var. Rotunda Very fine selected variety, extra round, full and large, dark lavender-purple flower.

Dendrobium Regale x Dendrobium Invincible Large new hybrid of heavy texture and dark color, very floriferous.

Dendrobium Variable x self An extra large flower, most will be dark but some yellow and apricots can be expected.

Dendrobium Juno A fine large dark, very free flowering.
